Students are to pick one image to draw from four different series each, following the steps provided on a video and recreate it on their own! The images below show some of the students' finished sketches as well as featuring them quietly working on them!

THIS WEEK IN VISUAL ARTS . . .

Senior visual art students welcomed local artist and Cambrian College professor Johanna Westby into their class on Tuesday morning. Johanna led an exercise in exploring creativity and thinking ‘outside of the box,’ and talked about how skills in art can be used in a variety of careers. “Creativity is about problem solving,” Johanna said, “and you need that in every career.”

Johanna is a local artist who is part of a vibrant creative community in Sudbury. She is an illustrator and painter, and has been involved with a number of murals around the city. You will likely recognize the mural below - painted in 2018 on the Sudbury Fire Hall on Van Horne Street - as part of the Up Here Festival.

During her visit, Johanna encouraged students to volunteer at art events like the Up Here Festival and suggested participating in art crawls, visiting local art galleries, and attending shows hosted by art clubs in Sudbury. Thank you Johanna for sharing your story, your art, and encouraging our students to continue exploring opportunities in visual art.

ENVIRONMENTAL COUNCIL CELEBRATES EAT LOCAL WORLD FOOD DAY

On World Food Day, this past Wednesday, our Environmental Council brought-in local food as part of a potluck. As part of the potluck, the Council considered the environmental impacts of the food they actually eat. Some foods take more natural resources such as water to produce, others have a lot of packaging, and others require excessive food miles to get to our table.

LET'S LISTEN YOUTH FORUM

This past week a group of our student leaders spent an eventful day at Cambrian College learning about multiculturalism, diversity, and inclusivity! From the forum, our students were immersed in discussions about integrating Sudbury youth into a multicultural society.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Students are invited, once again, to submit the names of family and friends who have served in the Canadian Forces. They should include the name, and if possible their rank and their theatre of engagement. The names will be placed on a red poppy and displayed in our Main Foyer. Please submit any names to Ms. Caddel in Room 231 by Wednesday, October 30th, 2019 or email caddelv@rscloud.ca
